EGR 190: Technical Projects

This course guides the student in the design and development of a useful technical project. The student develops a functioning design solution and generates all necessary support drawings and documentation.

Course Student Learning Outcomes

1. Utilize technical tools and methods to solve complex real world design problems using a site-based learning approach. 2. Work in an organized environment with specific educational goals. 3. Solve complex problems which require integrating many technical aspects.
Credits: 3
Program: Engineering